

Dividing Property Without the Fighting

Dividing the contents of a shared life is often harder than the legal paperwork. Dybbs gives both parties one neutral list, one structured process and clear reporting, so decisions are made in the open instead of in arguments.

Why it works in divorce

- Neutral by design. Both parties see exactly the same inventory, photos and values. Nothing is added or removed without a record.
- Photograph once, agree forever. The AI-assisted inventory documents condition and contents, ending he-said, she-said about what exists and its state.
- Structured rounds, not standoffs. Asset Review, Emotional Value points and Selection Order turns replace endless negotiation with a process both sides can see is even-handed.
- Clear reporting. Every designation, award and value is logged, giving attorneys and mediators a clean summary.
- Optional independent administrator. Bring in a neutral third party to run the rounds, so neither party holds the pen.

The process at a glance

1. List

Photograph each room and confirm the itemized inventory together.

2. Review

Each party marks the items they are interested in, Yes or No.

3. Divide

Points rounds and ordered selection settle who receives what, fairly.

Keep the split about the split, not the stuff. See how at www.mydybbs.com.